What is Ready2Work?

The Ready2Work (R2W) program is an innovative approach to meeting employer needs through identifying positions and tasks related to those positions and designing a specialized training program that gets participants “Ready2Work” for you!

CareerCenter Staff do the legwork for you.

You as an employer receive support from start to finish, with the ability to adjust as needed to meet your employment needs.

- We coordinate partners for you.
- We work with you to develop training.
- We recruit participants for you.
- We process paperwork for you.
- We track progress and outcomes for you.

“Maine is becoming a state with more jobs than people, reversing its century-long status as a state with more people than jobs.”

—Charles Colgan, January 2015,
former Maine State Economist

What’s unique about Ready2Work?

You get customized classroom and/or on-the-job training (OJT), tailored to your positions’ skills needs.

- You receive support to cover training costs.
- You receive help in designing and paying for the program.
- We help you screen and select candidates to join the program.
- We share the cost of on-the-job training once you have hired the employee.

Ready2Work attracts job seekers to your positions by:

- Developing the skills needed to fill your positions.
- Providing no-cost-to-them training.
- Offering earn-and-learn opportunities through on-the-job training.
- Offering industry-recognized certificate or credential training.
- Creating familiarity with your organization by training program participants in your work environment.

“By strategically investing in people, training them in the skills employers in their communities are looking for, we can help drive down unemployment while building the foundation for the broadly shared prosperity we all seek.”

—Dimon, Jamie and Marlene Seltzer,
“Closing the Skills Gap,” Politico Magazine, Jan. 2014
